The Valley and Hemlock schools have been badly broken up the past year, only one full term in each district. In most cases the teachers have done good, faithful work; several have taught in the same school throughout the year, which is a good plan if they are doing good work. We are glad to see some of the parents taking more interest in the schools, it encourages both teachers and pupils; children are usually interested in what their parents are. In some cases there has been great irregularity of attendance. This is a hindrance to good work, and can be corrected in a measure when parents realize the importance of their children being at school every day during the term.

The school-house in Jeffersonville has received some needed repairs, also the Fullington, No. Cambridge and Smilie school-houses. There is still more of this work to be done.

The text-books remain the same with two exceptions; Milne's Arithmetics have been replaced by Wentworth's Arithmetics, and Frye's Geographies by Rand, McNally's Geographies. Several reference books have been purchased. Supplementary Readers and Maps are much needed.

MRS. J. H. BEAN, Superintendent.

L. V. SMILIE, } Auditors.
F. E. SMITH, }

CAMBRIDGE, VT., Feb. 10, 1903.

Report of Library Trustees.

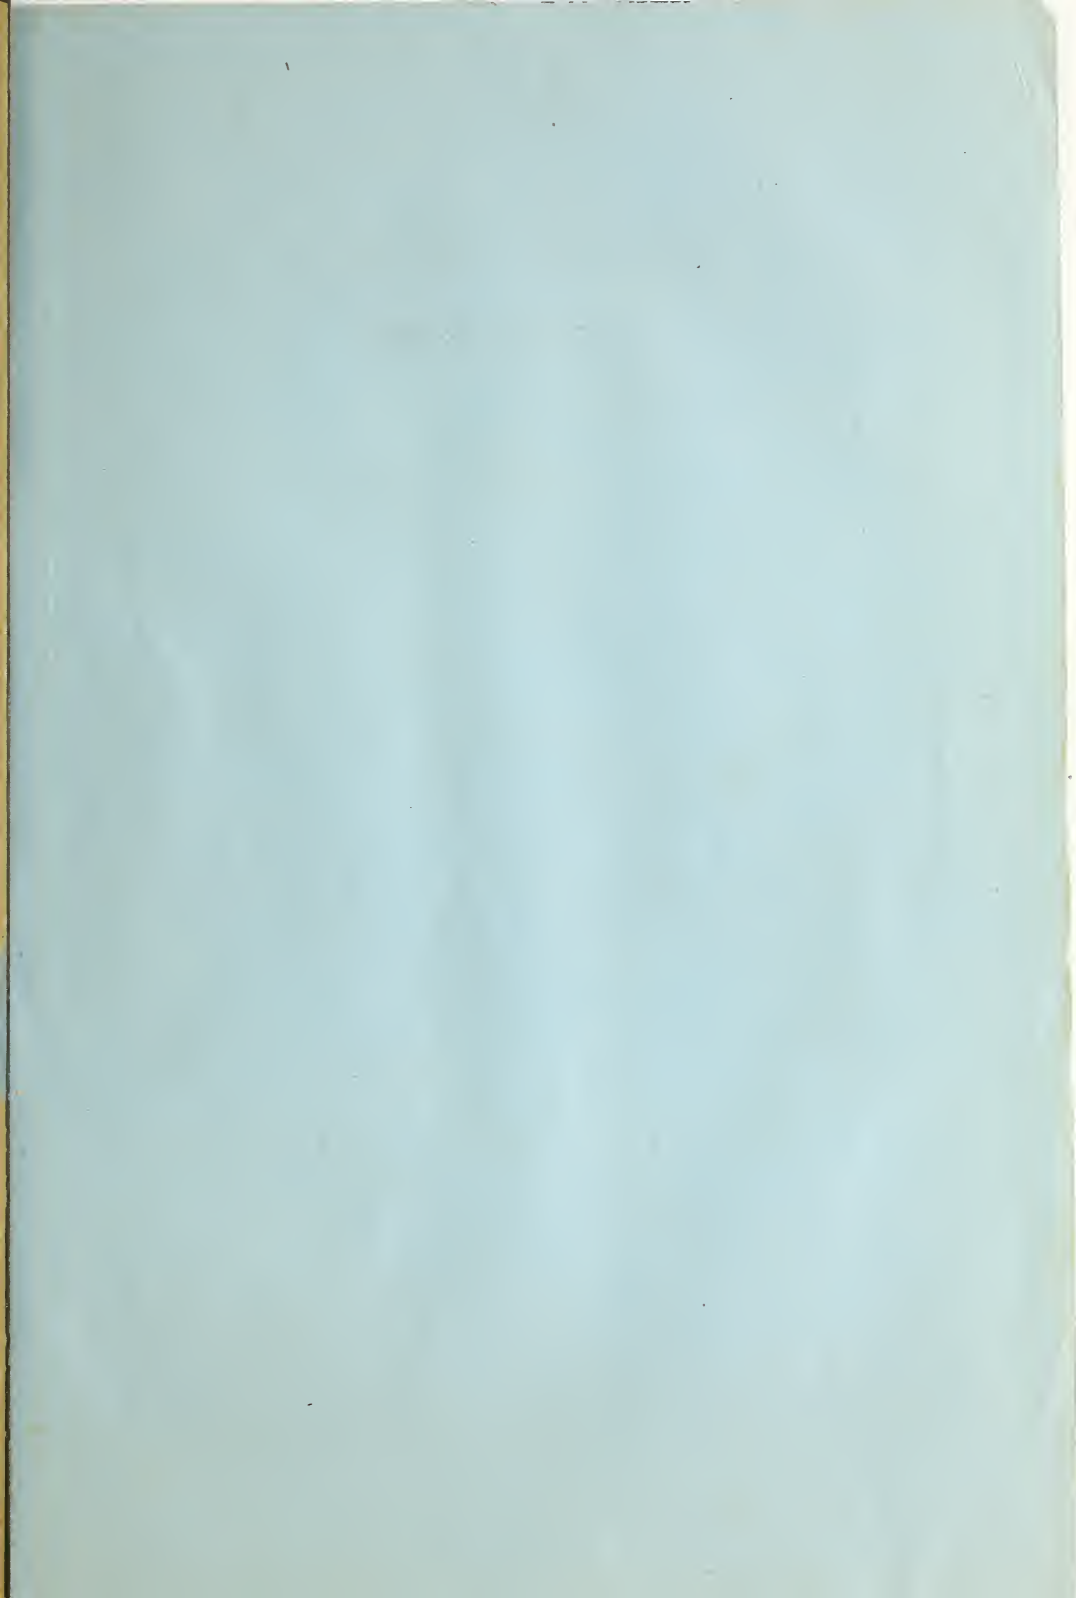

Your trustees beg to submit the following report, and by way of introduction quote from a letter received from Miss Carrie P. Carroll, the librarian for the Jeffersonville branch, "The interest in the library is increasing instead of lessening. A deeper love for reading is manifested, and the interest is not confined to the village, but the people in the surrounding districts are being awakened to the fact that a library is a good thing to have in a place and are patronizing it more and more."

The Jeffersonville Branch now contains 397 volumes, divided into the several departments of history, biography, science, poetry and fiction. Forty-one volumes have been added this year, 23 by purchase and 18 by presentation; 2,586 books have been taken this year by the 314 people who have availed themselves of its privileges. This fine showing fully justifies your trustees in placing the library in charge of the Cresendo Club, to whose efforts it is entirely due.

The Cambridge branch contains about 250 volumes in all departments, 50 of which have been added this year, and about $38.00 is now on hand to be expended, with all bills paid. Nine hundred and sixty books have been taken this year by the 220 persons who have been served. The great need for this branch is an association in whose hands all matters connected with the library may be placed, and steps are being taken toward such an organization.

It is evident that the Cambridge Town Library is a success and only needs the continued support of the town, and earnest efforts of all, to become more and more a force for good in our communities.

LINUS LEAVENS, Chairman.
